

DanceStream Projects has a mission to spark brain health and build creative community through dance and movement.

DanceStream Projects is a community-based arts organization in New York City, dedicated to building healthy, expressive and inclusive community through the vehicle of dance. We believe that dance is a universal language that, along with other arts, serves as an integral part of the health care ecosystem.

DanceStream Projects works with individuals, communities and organizations to amplify creative expression, build community and empower individuals by shifting the power of knowledge, expression and agency into their hands, minds and bodies. Together we build creative community and spark brain health!

MEET OUR FOUNDER

COMMUNITY....

EDUCATION....

Our community programs offer joyous, expressive and community building programming while sparking and extending brain health.

Stories in the Moment is a program for people living with dementia, care partners and friends. We use dance, movement and storytelling to amplify connection, extend communication and celebrate the creative voice of people living with dementia.

Offered online and in person.

Magda . . . gets us up out of our seats and moving to music. Movement is so important to maintain for people with dementia."

— PERSON LIVING WITH DEMENTIA, DEMENTIA ACTION ALLIANCE

This has been particularly effective for my husband, who is nine years into his Alzheimer's journey, to connect with community using his mind and body."

— CARE PARTNER

Our education programs place power founded in evidence base in the hands of individuals and communities to be active agents in their own brain health.

Brain Health Salons offer education, community dialogue and interactive activities around topics pivotal to promoting agency in brain health.

Offered online and in person.

We partner with organizations to deliver professional education and mentoring to artists, researchers, clinicians and community organizers to extend creative aging and arts and health best practices to diverse communities.

Learn more about our other community & education programs on our website.
